Where Quality Takes Root

Deep roots in Egyptian agriculture. One mission: growing better, connecting markets, building the future.

GALIA for Agricultural Development is an Egyptian agricultural company working across production, growers partnerships, and fresh produce exports. We work closely with farmers and trusted agricultural partners to develop and source fresh produce with a clear focus on quality, consistency, and responsible farming.

From Egyptian farmland to international markets, GALIA manages the journey with care — from crop planning and harvesting to packing, quality control, and export logistics. Our goal is simple: to build reliable supply programs that connect Egyptian agriculture with customers around the world.

We believe successful agriculture is built on strong relationships, responsible practices, and long-term partnerships — with growers, customers, and the markets we serve.

Fresh produce. Trusted partnerships. Shared growth

Our Commitment

At GALIA, our commitment goes beyond supplying fresh produce. We focus on building reliable agricultural partnerships, maintaining consistent quality, and delivering with care from the farm to the international market.

We work closely with our growers and customers to understand their requirements, plan each season carefully, and provide dependable support throughout the supply chain

Citrus

Egypt is one of the world's important citrus-producing and exporting origins, with a wide range of varieties and a long export season.

At GALIA, we supply selected Egyptian citrus varieties, including Navel and Valencia oranges, Eureka lemons, and other citrus products according to market requirements and seasonal availability.

Our citrus programs are managed with attention to variety, size, quality, packing specifications, and destination-market requirements—from harvest through packing and export.

Strawberry

Bright, juicy, and naturally sweet, GALIA strawberries are carefully selected for their vibrant red color, appealing aroma, and delicious taste. Grown with care and harvested at the right stage of maturity, they bring freshness and quality to every serving.

Naturally rich in vitamin C and a source of fiber and antioxidants, strawberries are a delightful addition to a healthy, balanced diet

Barhi dates

Golden, crisp, and naturally sweet. Barhi dates are best enjoyed fresh, when their delicate crunch and honey-like sweetness are at their peak. Every bite brings fiber, antioxidants, potassium, and magnesium, making them a wholesome snack for the whole family.

A healthy treat straight from Galia's orchards, our Barhi dates are picked at the right stage of ripeness and handled with care through packing and shipping, so they reach our clients fresh and full of flavor.
